YOEMEN FACE CRISIS HERE FRIDAY

"Our Town" by J. B. WHITE

Armistice Day calls our attention to the Americans who gave up their lives in the service of their country during the great World War.

It is well that the people of Milam County should place some emphasis on the sacrifice of brave young men who surrendered their lives. Surely we would honor the memory of those who offered their lives upon the altar of patriotism.

The men who went to their death during the titanic struggle fell asleep with a dream of world peace in their hearts. Rightly or wrongly, they were convinced that the suffering they endured and the blood they shed would be part of the price that mankind must pay for world peace.

Jingostic speeches and fulsome oratory on Armistice Day make no impression upon the dead. If happily they exist in the land beyond and are able to keep in touch with a world they loved, it would be a source of joy supreme for them to see that the people for whom they died are at least loyal to the ideals that cost them most. Our only fitting tribute to the dead soldiers, sailors, marines and others connected with war-time service is sincere attachment to the ends they sought and courageous determination to secure the goal for which they struggled.

The Herald salutes all the soldier dead of this country. So far as it is concerned, it pledges allegiance to the high ideals that nerved them to superhuman endeavor. We hope that the people of Milam County, along with vast millions of others in the United States, will always remember those who died and be loyal to the cause they served.

Though thought is swifter than light, the two minutes of silence on Armistice Day is too brief a space to hold all the thoughts that can never have utterance on such a day. Annual addresses by veterans and by orators not veterans cannot manage, even though thousands of eloquent words be uttered, to gie body to the exact thing that is in the minds of most Americans during these two minutes.

There probably are Americans who observe the period of silence as a fitting ceremony, as a tribute to the Unknown Soldier and his comrades, but who observe it with half a mind given to the work that is to be resumed. There are others who keep the two minutes of silence merely because their fellows do. There must be others who feel that two minutes so sheltered by the high wall of silence from every ordinary demand and interest and problem of the world a speedy and almost miraculous return, over no matter how many years, to the mingling of joy and relief, of sorrow and pride, of shame and exultation, that their country felt on the first Armistice Day in 1918.

Most Americans now know what that emotion was, but the day comes, without much delay, when most Americans will not know and they will have to rely on tradition or hearsay for understanding of it. Possibly those who lived through the first Armistice Day do not understand their experience well enough to persuade others of its reality; if a generation which knew not the war can understand a man's being half ashamed, half proud of the human race on November 11, 1918, that generation will learn to understand what the two minutes of silence can mean.

We read about world peace which seems to be the common goal of mankind if one is able to judge from the speeches and writings of educators, statesmen and others who set out their thoughts for the public enlightenment. Undoubtedly there does exist a strong yearning for peace, almost amounting to a demand on the

Loss Is Heavy

B & B Studio

J. B. (JUNK) GILBERT

There was no prospects that Gilbert would be able to play against Rockdale Friday night. He may be out for the season, with the bare possibility he may get in the game against Belton November 15. The big end and tackle stuck a pop bottle through his left foot. His injury has proven costly to the Yoemen and may mean their elimination from the Conference race.

UNDER THE COURT HOUSE DOME

By Berenice Mc Lerran

One of the spots to be marked in this county in connection with the Centennial program is the San Gabriel Missions site. It has been found that in one place from historic information that the site of these missions is found in present day Williamson county. Wonder what Milam county is going to do about that? It is hoped that Williamson County is not not having a marker placed there also for the San Gabriel Missions. It is stated that these Missions were established about 1746 on the San Xavier River, a stream which for many years of modern research defied identity, but which is now assumed to be the San Gabriel of Cen-

GEORGE MANLEY CUT IN MINERVA FIGHT

George Manley of Minerva is in a local hospital suffering severe knife wounds from an altercation occuring at 8:30 Sunday morning at Minerva.

Sheriff Kennedy arrested R. H. McFarland who waived hearing and was released on a $500 bond. The fight occured near the post office and is said to have grown out of previous trouble. Manley was cut in the stomach and an artery was slashed in his left arm. The knife also penetrated and cut his liver. Loss of blood together with the nature of the wounds led physicians to feel he might have difficulty in recovering.

Earlier in the morning Manley and J. S. Jacobs left Rockdale for Minerva. On the way out about 3 a. m. they collided with a truck. Jacob's car was badly damaged. District Attorney Emory B. Camp said charges of driving a car while intoxicated had been filed against both Jacobs and Manley. On Monday Jacobs waived hearing and was released.

JOAN CRAWFORD ON CAMERON SUNDAY BILL

Starring Joan Crawford and directed by W. S. Van Dyke—this combination is enough to make any picture a success. In the case "I Live My Life," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production at the Cameron Theatre Sunday and Monday, November 10 and 11, the combination coupled with a powerful story is made an outstanding production.

Different from any of the glamorous star's previous pictures, it casts her as a spoiled debutante whose love for a penniless archeologist redeems her.

As the archeologist, Brain Aherne brings his finest performance to the screen, making the character a warm, charming and humorous digger of of statues.

Van Dyke's inspired direction is apparent in every scene of the new production. The swiftness, easy comedy and dramatic punch which he instills into his sequences are becoming a personal trademark.

Joan Crawford has never appeared more glammorous nor been more beeautifully photographed. Her delineation of the gay, careless, heart-free character is the work of a fine actress.

Equally stimulating is the supporting cast. Frank Morgan is up to his old humorous tricks as the bumbling soft-hearted father. Aline McMahon brings dignity to her role of a woman sadly in love.

Keating as "Other Man"

Fred Keating is excellent as the handsome "clothes horse." Eric Blore and Arthur Treacher are two butlers you'll never forget. Nor will you forget Jessie Ralphas the irascible old grandmother.

This is a Bernard Hyman production, with gowns by Adrian, photography by George Folsey, and screen play by Jottfried Reinhardt and Ethel Borden.

You'll be sorry if you miss it.

COACH TRYING TO BUILD TEAM FROM FRAGMENTS

COACH WOOD

Here is Coach Wood snapped after a disconsolate hour working out the battered Yoemen. Since the Rosebud game he has been picking up fragments and trying to build the team all over again and head it along the come-back trail. He admits it looks gloomy. Strange enough he was not concerned so much about injuries as the lack of spirit on the part of his backfield. The former stars have lost their drive, playing desultory football and making things look dark for the Rockdale game. In fact, he said if they did not snap into the comeback spirit, the Yoemen will lose by two touchdowns.

Facing the season's most difficult assignment Friday night against the Rockdale Tigers, the Yoemen, torn to shreds by panther claws in Rosebud November 1, were not a promising bunch of gridsters as they took to the field in a north gale trying to find the comeback trail.

Gone was the spirit of yesterday, gone the drive and fight. Coach Wood in despondent re-action to the situation, confesed he holds grave doubts about the ability of his stalwarts to snap out of the depression. This he believes will result from failure of his vaunted backfield to capture the spirit that makes touchdowns. Coach Wood does not doubt the potential strength of his team. No one doubts that back of the sorry exhibition there lies potential power and strength enough to recapture lost laurels and regain the conference lead.

The problem of coordinating the team's enthusiasm had the Coach worried sick as he took his second string into scrimmage against his senior team and scored five touchdowns against them Tuesday afternoon.

Assistant Coach Bennett was equally pessimistic. Both leaders agreed it looked like the Tigers would win by two touchdowns unless the Yoemen recovered.

Joe McLean, hit hard in the Granger game, found difficulty piled high against Rosebud. The Panthers were no set up. Joe couldn't get going. He couldn't pass accurately and he couldn't carry the ball like the driving back he was in former games. Joe found he couldn't stop the Panthers from grabbing his passes. It required something more than just looking mean at the naughty boys who took the ball away from him four times in the first quarter. With the exception of one brilliant spurt, they bottled him up and with him co-starring backs, Smith and Breeding. A good back does not always wait for the

BURLINGTON BOND ISSUE MOST ECONOMICAL DUE TO GRANTS And LOWER RATES

All is in readiness for the Burlington road bond issue election to be held on Saturday November 16.

Considering the benefits embraced by this bond issue, it is doubtful if it has a parallel in the history of the county. The issue is for only $16,500. The Federal government has allotted the district in an outright grant $33,000.

The entire cost of the project will be about $49,000 and will include building eleven miles of gravel roads and will include practicaly all roads and streets in the district.

The tax will be 50c on the hundred dollor valuation and cost will not exceed 15c to 20c per acre on land, depending on the valuation. The tax reduces each year and the entire issue is to be paid off in 11 years.

The improvements sought will give Burlington much needed roads in the territory covered by the trade area.

The federal government has already approved the grant of $33,000 which will be available when the bonds are voted.

HEALTH RULES GIVEN BY GAS COMPANY

Are you a "huddler?" This question has become of prime importance with the coming of cold weather. It is being answered in an educational campaign by the gas company to instruct gas consumers in proper methods of heating and ventilationg their homes to protect their health.

Huddling is described as the habit of families to huddle in one or two rooms around small heaters with the doors and windows tightly closed during the cold weather, and it has become prevalent during the recent depression. Gas company advertising appearing in this paper shows the dangers of huddling and gives advice on heating with a view of protecting customers from winter colds and similar illnesses, many of which may be attributed to improperly heated homes.

The latest advertisement in the series states that "fifty per cent of all disabling diseases start with a common cold. Thus the cold germ becomes America's public health enemy number one. The hibernating habit called huddling is said by doctors to be contrary to all rules of good health. Sitting in a stuffy room that is overheated and passing from this hot room into a cold hallway or unheated room is said to be an invitation for the cold germs to attack.

"If your room is inadequately heated," says the ad, "if you huddle in one room during the winter, sudden temperature changes are unavoidable. Even the brief time that it takes to answer the telephone in an unheated hall is sufficient to bring on a cold. This happens many times a day in the average home in this territory and each time it happens the occupants of the house have made themselves susceptable to highly communicable winter diseases."

In an effort to assist its customers to protect their health, the gas company has enlisted doctors, public health authorities and others in the educational program. They are advocating proper ventilation and uniform temperatures throughout the home in every room. A booklet entitled "America's Public Health Enemy Number One," gives vital facts on heating.

Child Star Takes Lead In New Film At the Cameron

A salary of a thousand dollars a week and miserably unhappy.

Termed the luckiest girl in the world and singing and dancing while her heart is breaking.

Receiving the plaudits of an idolizing world, and desiring only someone to love and someone to love her.

Headlinned as the child genius of the stage, and yearning for a normal childhood.

That, is in short, is the unusual story of "This Is the Life," featuring little Jane Withers, nine year old Fox Film child actress, which comes Friday and Saturday to the Cameron Theatre.

"This Is the Life" establishes this new young personality of the screen into fams not only as a dramatic actress of the mature ability, but also as a singing and dancing star.

One of the highlights of the picture is the nation wide search instituted when Jane, believed to be kidnapped, takes to the open road with John McGuire, fugitive from justice, in an effort to find some happiness as a normal child and to escape the hardships to which her unscrupulous guardians, Gordon Westcott and Gloria Roy, subjest her.

John McGuire is the young man who scored a hit in the important juvenile role in Will Rogers' "Steamboat Round the Bend."

Marshall Neilan directed the picture, and in the supporting cast are included Sidney Toler, Francis Ford and Sally Blane.

EDITORIAL

Monday we will celebrate the signing of the Armistice. To the average student the best thing about this day is that it is a holiday. All of us know that on Noember 11, seventeen years ago, the greatest war in the history of the world was brought to a close. While enjoying the holiday, we should remember that it marks the ending of a conflict in which thousands of men in the prime of life were being killed daily. As long as the memory of that great wound to the world peace remains with us, we cannot want war.

The average American student, in contrast with the average student of the Germany or the Italy of today, does not find himself prepared for war in his educational program. Which method of education is better? We should make our observance of the signing of the Armistice an occasion for gratitude that, in a measure, the world war has taught us to abhor war and cling to peace, and that our schools are preparing for active citizenship, not for war and death, by showing us the way to useful lives, to peaceful living, and to understanding which makes war unnecessary.

THIS WEEK AT YOE HIGH

November 11—All day holiday everywhere.

November 13, 11:20 a. m., Chapel Program in auditorium. Music by the band under direction of Francis Cox. Twenty minutes skit sponsored by Library Staff.

November 14, 3:20 p. m. Pep Rally in auditorium.

November 15, 8 p. m. Football game, athletic field at Belton.

BIDS REJECTED

The city council and school board met for the opening of the bids for the construction of the Physical Educational and Vocational building, at 2 p. m. October 31. The authorities were disappointed because only two contractors bid, and these were considerably above the expected estimates. C. C. Ramsey of Waco was the low bidder in the amount of $55,000. Both bids were rejected, and the board authorized the readvertisement for bids. The new bids are to be opened on November 21.

Tigers have one of the strongest teams in the district but have little reserve power, due to lack of training. Nevertheless, the Yoemen will have to do better in order to win the game. The Tigers have a number of players on the team that look like all district men. They are Dean, backfield; Coffield, end and Vanmeter, tackle. This game is essential to the Yoemen if they intend to stay in the district race.

YOEMEN LOSE TO ROSEBUD

The Yoemen met a crushing defeat at the hands of the Rosebud Panthers last Friday. The badly crippled Yoemen were outplayed at every turn of the game and scored only once. The Cameron score was the result of a pass from Joe McLean to Simmie Smith who raced across the goal.

J. B. Gilbert and Luie Turner were unable to play because of injuries. If these two star Yoemen had gotten into the game, the score would probably have been quite different. The score was 15 to 6. The Yoemen still have a chance at the District title if they win the remaining games.

The Man Who Knows

Whether the Remedy You are taking for Headaches, Neuralgia or Rheumatism Pains is SAFE is Your Doctor. Ask Him

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches; or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it — in comparison with Genuine Bayer Aspirin.

We say this because, before the discovery of Bayer Aspirin, most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of Bayer Aspirin largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken Bayer Aspirin year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: Genuine Bayer Aspirin is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

You can get real Bayer Aspirin at any drug store — simply by never asking for it by the name "aspirin" alone, but always saying BAYER ASPIRIN when you buy.

Keep Us on the Jump

DAY AND NIGHT

NEW families . . new homes . . new stores . . new factories . . improved homes . . growing families . . bigger and better stores . . expanding factories . . all forms of growth and change in the life of a community add to the demand for more electric service.

New and better electrical devices are daily put into use in more homes, stores, places of business and industry. They "get the job done" with greater ease, comfort and convenience . . and, for less money. At the same time they call for more electric power.

Life is movement. The life of a community is never at a standstill. All of it demands more electric service. A surprisingly large amount of it depends upon the constant availability of dependable, low-cost electric service.

It is easy to see, therefore, that the Texas Power & Light Company can not build its equipment to supply only today's demands. Tomorrow's demands will be bigger than today's. They must be provided for . . they must be foreseen, so that, regardless of the increase in size of a community, and in the activity of the people, adequate electric power will be available to answer all demands.

"Growing Pains" of Our Own

Inventors and scientists are steadily perfecting better methods of producing and distributing electric power. Yesterday's equipment is frequently made obsolete by the perfection of a newer method. The use of these newer methods sometimes makes it possible for us to lower the cost of Texas Power & Light service. Therefore, we must use the highest degree of engineering skill and foresight to take advantage of better methods with the least amount of loss through discarding of obsolete equipment.

This alertness, this "stickin'-to-the-job," has made Texas Power & Light service unexcelled anywhere. During the past ten years the average cost of residential lighting service has been lowered more than 35 per cent to Texas Power & Light customers. Yes, the Stork, the Builder, Dan Cupid, the Mover, and the Inventor have kept us on the jump, resulting in better and cheaper electric service to our customers.

Our Town

In the United States there is no exception. However, here as elsewhere, few seem to understand thoroughly that pace will not descend upon the world unless it s earned by the people of the world who must be ready to pay the price necessary to establish law and maintain order among the nations of the earth.

Without going into any argument about Italy's venture into Ethiopia, it is significant to notice that the League of Nations does not rely upon moral judgment or the pressure of public opinion. Of course, the value of these factors cannot be overestimated but their potency in preventing the use of force may be doubted. Largely through the leadership of Great Bratain, the League has adopted the policy of sanctions against Italy but there is no misunderstanding as to the eventual necessity for the use of force.

Speaking recently, Stanley Baldwin, Prime Minister of Great Britain, pointed out that sanctions will lead inevitably to a blockade, the brunt of which will fall on the British Navy. He spoke ominously of the test involved, pointing out frankly that he would not agree to the use of the British fleet in a blockade unless he was sure beforehand of the attitude of the United States of America.

While there may be many reasons why the United States should remain aloof from the quarrels of Europe, there seems to be none whatever why this country should not make plain its position in the event that the League of Nations institutes a blockade against an agressor. Certainly, the United States should not bind itself in advance but in the present case the facts are apparent and there is no reason why this country should not frankly state its attitude towards a League blockade, if one is proposed against Italy.

By remaining silent or permitting its future course to be uncertain, this country would prevent any concerted action in support of the League's position. It would in effect encourage future aggression by a stubborn insistance upon rights as a neutral trader. If, as a matter of fact, we believe that human life takes precedence over property rights, there should be no hesitation as to our national policy. Moreover, there should be no secrecy about our attitude toward the present or any other similar crisis in the future.

The Story of 4 Brothers

Once four brothers lived in a town about the size of Cameron. One was a grocer, one a merchant, one a hardware dealer and the other a farmer.

Talking matters over they said: "Let us stick together always, buying from each other at every opportunity, and never spending our money with other people unless we cannot avoid doing so.

As the years went by the four brothers stuck to that resolution. The result was that when one of the brothers made a bit of money all of them felt it pass through their hands. In time it went around and around the circle. Eventually, the four brothers got rich, and because they stuck together.

Luckily, the four brothers' children and wives didn't get the idea that they had to shop out of their home town to get anything. They never got the idea that something away from home was always better than what they had at hand. They, too, cheerfully accepted the principle of sticking together.

Cameron has a number of business men, who are brothers as far as their business goes. If they will remember the story of the four brothers, and teach it to their children and their wives, the money that comes into Cameron will stay here, to make all of us prosperous. We will have a chance to pass it around and make it work for Cameron.

Jack Frost

As the chill winds of autumn come, farmers and gardners watch crops and plants with anxiety. Many flowers that have been the glory of the gardens hang their drooping heads after Jack has delivered his stealthy blows. Many a farmer has seen his promising crop wither and decay, as the result of premature frost.

Agriculture science deals with saucy Jack, who is now abroad with his nippers. There are various plans for warding him off, such as gauzy veils spread over endangered plants, or bonfires that produce thick smoke clouds and hinder the frosty descent.

The farmer and gardner has to be a student of nature. The weather bureau and newspapers and radio tell him when Jack Frost is seen traveling in his direction. If the farmer can't spare a few minutes to get this information, he may spend many hours regretting the loss of his products.

The Red Cross Is Yours

The annual roll call of the American Red Cross begins next week and continues until Thanksgiving Day.

This great orgaization needs no introduction to the people of Milam county and certainly no praise from us will add to its prestige. Its record in times of war and peace is well known to all of us. The Red Cross deserves the support of the American people and hundreds of us in Milam county should respond promptly to its appeal by enrolling ourselves as members.

The peace time function of the Red Cross, as an agent of mercy to those caught in unexpected disasters, may not seem important sometimes as we sit in the quiet of our homes. However, when the demoniacal forces of nature are loosened against us, to leave a populace stunned and amazed at the fury and destructiveness, the symbol of the Red Cross and the aid that it extends becomes of transcendent importance.

The few dollars that we contribute to the Red Cross is cheap participation in the glorious realization of mercy and relief. Surely there are few of us in Milam County who can afford not to give at least one dollar to be included in the army of those willing to help the afflicted and unfortunate.

Few readers of this article will disagree with the sentiments expressed. Many of them, however, will put off the actual signing of the roll call card and the giving of the vital contribution. We urge you as an individual to respond to your better impulse and make your contribution immediately.

Income And Growth

No community in the world can become prosperous unless there is some source of income. The greater the income the greater the prosperity.

Cameron cannot prosper wthout the flow of money into its borders. The coin that comes to live in Cameron becomes a true workman for the upbuilding of this section. The money that goes away, like all absentees, does us no good whatever.

Apply this to local commercial and industrial affairs. An enterprise grows through the acquisition of a surplus. If its income exceeds the expense it prospers, and if the balance is the other way, it withers away. Towns and cities operate under the same rules, no matter how obscure the application may be.

Per capita wealth does not always mean general prosperity, but it certainly insures the possibility of that desired state. Consider Cameron as one joint enterprise, with all citizens as stockholders. What each one spends, away from home, is money sent away; what one sells away from home is money brought in to offset the other total. If money that arives is greater than that sent away the civic entity grows, its surplus grows. If the balance is the other way, the civic enterprise withers, the balance constantly dwindles and the word "poverty" begins to be written on the wall.

Indian Summer

There is probably no more dogmatic group of individuals in the world than the people who know, or think they know, when falls that time of the year we call Indian Summer. Casually observe that a warm and sunny week in late September is Indian Summer, and they will shout you down. Say the same of late October and you will fare no better. The hall-mark of the professional Indian Summer sage, indeed, is his ability to postpone the advent of that pleasant season, while his scorn of those who would hasten its arrival is as boundless as the sea.

Not being one of this knowing company, we had fallen into the error of assuming the weather currently at hand was Indian Summer. Coming as it has a late September and an early October which was somewhat chill, it seemed the sort of pleasant respite from the cold which merited the name. It was a mistake, of course.

Professional Indian Summer-ites have been prompt to inform us that unofficial season of the year is not yet due. It doesn't come, it seems, until late November; it may not arrive until December. Thus, at any rate, the pronouncements of those oracular pronouncers who have, alas, documentary definition to uphold them.

Even so, we shall continue to rebel. Whatever may be the proper term for this season of the year, we like it. It is pleasantly warm and endlessly gorgeous. It has the fleeting quality of impermance, and curious wonder of unreality. It ought to be Indian Summer, whether it is or not.

Casualty figures pouring in from the Eritrean border are, of course, exclusive of Sunday driving figures over those new roads.

It must feel funny to be unemployed one day, like the League of Nations, and wake up next morning to find yourself chairman of the board.

We have the inside on Red Grange being held for leaving the scene of a collision. He thought it was interference blocking out a tackler.

A notable in New York is called "a leading voice in the anti-noise movement." It is very tackless of him, we think.

"Fleet, alert, responsive, and with safety built in at every point." NOT the American motorist—just the new motor car.

Usually so enterprising, the boys handling the cigaret ads seem to have overlooked Il Duce for a monchalance indorsement.

Mussolini wants Italians to live dangerously. But cooler heads advise against pulling the cork from the chianti with two penknives.

Cameron Federation Of Church Women Meet October 22

Cameron Federation of church women held a quarterly meeting October 29 at the Methodist church.

The leader of the devotional period, Mrs. R. P. Jeter, emphasized the obligation of Christian women to follow their leader in the practice of universal brotherhood.

Two topics of urgent interest were discussed. Mrs. W. C. Ford told of needs of Alabama Tribe of Indians, whose home is a reservation in Polk County.

These Indians are to install a new Chief on January 1, 1936. The ceremony requires appropriate garments for which the Indians have no materials.

It was decided to ask Milam County residents for beads, pelts, worn fur pieces or old metal. Mrs. W. C. Ford will act as chairman for the assembling of these articles, which are to be sent to her before November 15 by individuals or by groups.

Public health nursing was discussed under the leadership of Miss Pearl Fulcrod, who has recently assumed her duties in Milam County.

Miss Fulcrod told of urgent need of health education, giving a number of interesting experiences.

Miss Fulcrod emphasized the need of articles for the loan closet, such as sheets, pillow slips, ice bag, hot water bottle, gowns for adults and children, and we would add a cabinet in which to keep these articles.

Halloween night Mr. and Mrs. Yoe and Miss Viola Tarwater gave the high school a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Yoe. Thirty boys and girls were present. Fortunes were told and games were played until 10 o'clock when refreshments were served. There were little black cakes and orange jello on black and orange plates. Afterwards the usual pranks were played on the sleeping town.

POSTERS

Good English week is over. The big problem, that of making posters, is over. Some have enjoyed the week, some are breathing sighs of relief. The tenth and eleventh grades had a bad English box for the week, and on opening it the last of the week less than two dozen mistakes were found. Therefore Good English week must have had some effect on the student's speech. Posters made by the high school were judged by Mrs. Goodwin, Mrs. Elliott, and Mr. Slovacek, teachers of the grammar grades. The poster made by Rudolph Krall of the tenth grade was chosen first. It was that of a rainbow with a pot of gold at the end of it and the words: "Is good English Your Goal?" below the picture. Tillie Tomascik won second place and Jasper Tyler, Mary Frances Elliott and Antone Sevcik won third, fourth and fifth places respectively.

Clothing reports for Milam county showing a total of 347 foundation patterns made as a result of the County's first year in clothing work. 337 women are enrolled in the county and this report is from 16 of the 19 clubs.

"Having made one dress in school, I never attempted another until I made a foundation pattern. Now I make all my dresses," Ethel Angell, wardrobe demonstrator for the Curry club states.

"A clothes closed made of beaver board will be less expensive than lumber and by building it on a wood frame we can easily take it apart if we should move," states Miss Werdner Wallace, wardrobe demonstrator for the Yarrellton Home Demonstration club. The closet will have two sliding rods on either side of the closet with a row of shelves between the two rods. The storage is planned large enough to care for the family's clothing.

"I didn't know my personal clothing cost so much until I kept a record last year," states Mrs. Dud Curry, wardrobe demonstrator for the Bethlehem Club. Using last year's record as a basis, Mrs. Curry plans to cut the family expenditure for clothing to a minimum margin by renovating the old clothing, making over clothes for the children, and putting the family clothing in the best possible condition.

I'M SOLD

It always works

Just do what hospitals do, and the doctors insist on. Use a liquid laxative, and you can bring yourself to clocklike regularity without strain or ill effect.

A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the secret of any real relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has become. It gives the right kind of help, and right amount of help. Taking a little less each time, gives the bowels a chance to act of their own accord, until they are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin contains senna and cascara—both natural laxatives that form no habit. The action is gentle, but sure. It will relieve any sluggishness or bilious condition due to constipation without upset.

Mr. Newton had been a member of the Presbyterian church from early childhood and held the love and esteem of a large circle of friends.

WAR THEN AND NOW

We have had and we have now, so called patriots—the people who do big things in their opinion without action, and for selfish purposes. "Action speaks louder than words."

The management of a munition plant that will quibble with government officials over the amount of profit to be derived when ammunition is badly needed, is no patriot, but more of a traitor, in my opinion. This is a class of people who help to cause war and help to cause rumors of war, and then in the end claim the honor of victory. They take into consideration no loss of life and property, but they take their 400 per cent profit and make believe it is patriotism.

The patriots are not always "true blue," but the boys in the trenches are true blue and patriots too.

Armistice Day should bring to our minds serious thoughts about preserving peace between individuals, between states and between nations; thereby making the world safe for peace and maybe Democracy.

War is nothing but fight from start to finish; it causes bloodshed, broken hearts, broken homes, morals lowered, and it has also caused depression. It costs many millions of dollars and is never all paid for.

The Italo-Ethiopian struggle is caused by Italy wanting more territory and she has taken it upon herself to run over an ignorant country. She is progressing rapidly and it seems that the whole world will soon be in war.

It is an unlawful and unjust principle for individuals to kill and to rob and it is equally true of a nation. So let us as a part of the nation try to promote peace among all.

CARNIVAL BIG SUCCESS

The annual PTA Carnival, a thing of the past, was a success and was entertaining to its many visitors.

The kitty kats gave the baseball minded plenty of entertainment; the fish pond gave the fishermen entertainment; the bingo table gave the corn huskers a chance to handle corn; the pies, cakes, coffee, cocoa, candy and pop corn gave the hungry ones a break; the boxing gave the pugilists a thrill.

We wish to thank one and all for any participation whatever in making the carnival a success. We took in $50.00 and the proceeds will be spent to improve and beautify the school campus and other worthy and worthwhile needs of the school.

SIX GRADE ENGLISH PROJECT

In English 6, Miss Camp assigned the sixth grade to read "The Star Spangled Banner," and to report on why Francis Scott Key wrote the "Star Spangled Banner." All the reports were very good. We voted on them and Mary Nell Worley and Doris Bell Andrew's paper was voted on as the best interpretation. It is as follows:

Appreciation

Francis Scott Key was a young lawyer of Baltimore. He was the son of John Ross Key and is the author of "The Star Spangled Banner." He was born August 1, 1779 and died January 11, 1843. It was on the evening of September 13, 1814, during the war of 1812 that a British fleet was anchored in Chesapeake Bay. This fleet was to attack the beautiful city of Baltimore. Francis was in prison while this was going on. That night, September 13, he could still see the United States' flag waving over the old fort, on the morning of September 14th, by the dawn's early light, he could still see the flag waving over the fort as he had seen it the night before. He knew that the United States was still fighting because he could still hear the bombs bursting in the air, and this gave proof that through the night our flag was still there.

While the men were still fighting, Francis had a motto, and it was "In God is Our Trust." He prayed that the United States would have power enough to preserve us a nation. This motto meant that if we trust God, He will help us, and he thought that this helped the United States to win the war.

HALLOWEEN FESTIVALS

The third and fourth grades were very festive the afternoon of October 31.

The gay masks made each child look very "witchified" and spooky.

The first game was "The Witch's Broomstick." Each one enjoyed playing the game as sometimes the broomstick was not so easily found. During the game, witches were heard outside playing their wierd tunes and beating on the wall.

The second game was the "Goblin Chase." The words they said as marching around were:

"Goblin over the water,
Goblin over the sea;
Goblin caught a black cat
But he can't catch me."

The next game was the "Black Cat's Tail." If they were treading on the black cat's tail at the wrong time they ware out of the game.

After this Miss Johnson and Miss Harrell gave each child some candy. Then the fun of grabbing the apples came and it was really amusing to see the efforts at catching apples.

After this came the visit to the morgue, where the children looked for the parts of a dead Halloween cat, which were: Eyes, grapes; tail, bananas soaked in castor oil; brain, liver soaked in water; flesh, sponge; worms, spaghetti.

The last thing were some songs sung by all.

More cigarettes are smoked today because more people know about them—they are better advertised.

But the main reason for the increase is that they are made better—made of better tobaccos; then again the tobaccos are blended—a blend of Domestic and Turkish tobaccos.

Chesterfield is made of mild, ripe tobaccos. Everything that science knows about is used in making it a milder and better-tasting cigarette.

Get Rid of Poisons

Produced by Constipation

A cleansing laxative—purely vegetable Black-Draught—is the first thought of thousands of men and women who have found that by restoring the downward movement of the bowels many disagreeable symptoms of constipation promptly can be relieved. . . Mr. J. P. Mahaffey, of Clinton, S. C., writes: "I have found that Black-Draught is very effective in the cleansing of the system. When affected by the dull headache, the drowsiness and lassitude caused by constipation, I take Black-Draught."

line to clear the field for action. He makes headway on his own account sometimes. Critics say Joe's chances were good for an all conference berth up to the Rosebud game. Two chances are open—one against Rockdale and the other against Belton.

Simmie Smith, hardest driving back of the 1935 show, was running short of his usual brilliance. In the Rosebud game Smith scored the only touchdown of the game. He got away with a long pass and ran without trouble to the Panther goal line. In the third quarter with the ball on the one yard line, he called a line play and it cost the Yoemen two points. Cameron fans were pleading for the revival of the old fire in this brilliant back and are looking forward to his performance Friday night hoping he will set the grass on fire, but pregame estimates were not so hopeful.

Clinton Breeding, playing a hard season because of injuries, was due to get one chance to star. So far that chance has not brought out the qualities that were so promising in 1934. Breeding has lacked the fire and drve he once had. Playing his last year under the maroon, but two games remain. When the Yoemen Captain lines up his squad Friday night for the kickoff the eyes of Cameron will be on him. What answer will he be able to make to this challenge from so many who want him to come through as of old.

Turning from the first string Coach Wood was looking for hopeful signs among the lesser lights and it is likely the Tiger game Friday will unfold opportunities for others whose place in the picture has not been so prominent. Performance is essential and football plays no favorites.

Shirley McLean, that other half of the family contribution to the 1935 edition of the Yoemen, was facing a difficult task also. When Junk Gilbert fell out a victim to a pop bottle in his loft foot, Coach Wod called on Shirley who had been injured early in the year. Shirley was meant to bolster the pass attack. It will take a little more zip from this regular end in the Tiger game to justify his assignment.

In the shifting Wing Crawford went to tackle. Coach Wood had to do something to offset the shattered condition of his team.

Rosebud outplayed the Yoemen at every stage. Fumbles, coupled with bad passing, brought the mighty Yoemen down. They fell in the grass roots, a shadow of the former team. Box, sensational back for the Panthers, ran the Yoemen ragged in the best performance of the year. Cameron's lone touchdown came in the second quarter when Joe McLean got over one of two successful passes of the game and Smith took it down the side line and over the goal.

A play by play report was not available for readers this week. No transcript was made for the Herald. The score was 15 to 6 with Yoemen on the losing end, does not tell the story. Cameron was lucky to escape with so slight a loss.

tral Texas. Even the river's name was assumed. Then again, it says in the Legends of Texas by Frank Dobie in 1924 that "Although up to ten years ago, Texas History has hardly recognized the existence of the San Gabriel Missions, legend had kept the fact and the place green for generations." Webster tells us that legend means a "romantic or non-historical story." Younger minds of today demand more than legends. They want facts. After all, it is a nice thing to have historical spots marked in this county, and the efforts of interested citizens to get these markers are appreciated, but we wonder just how many spots being marked over the state are of any real importance as far as history is concerned.

"He is the same behind closed doors as he is in the open, and he has never been known to speak an unkind word about anyone." These are the words that have been spoken about our District Judge, W. G. Gillis. It takes a real man—one with a Christian character and intelligence to fill the place of a district judge. Nothing could be a greater compliment to Milam county than to have a man like Judge Gillis on the District Judge's bench again next term.

"Boys will be boys," but let's hope that their boyish pranks of petty theft will not develop into something more serious. The sheriff reported that for four Friday nights at Sharp several boys between the ages of 12 to 14 years had been stealing soda water from the Dan G. Davis store. The boys got the soda water by reaching through the window bars after taking a wire and knocking a stick off the window so they could raise it. Fines were imposed upon two of the boys.

Get rid of constipation by taking Black-Draught as soon as you notice that bowel activity has slowed up or you begin to feel sluggish. Thousands prefer Black-Draught for the refreshing relief it has brought them. Mrs. Ray Mullins, of Lafe, Ark., writes: "My husband and I both take Thedford's Black-Draught and find it splendid for constipation, biliousness, and the disagreeable, aching, tired feeling that comes from this condition." With reference to Syrup of Black-Draught, which this mother gives her children, she says: "They like the taste and it gave such good results."
